

MISSION CONSERVATION ACTIVITY GUIDE

May 2026 – Migration Madness

Hello agents! This month's theme is Migration Madness! Animals have all sorts of adaptations that help them survive and thrive during the night!

Outdoor Activity: Making Your Windows Bird Safe

This activity teaches you how to make your windows more visible to prevent bird collisions!

Materials:

- Any color paper (construction or printer)
- Markers (sharpie/washable)

Indoor Activity: Migration Game

Birds face many obstacles during their incredible migration journeys! Let's play a game to highlight some of these dangers!

How to Play:

1. Gather a group of people to play. At least four are needed, but the more the merrier!
2. Choose one person to be a “danger” or the tagger. This is to represent the dangers birds face while migrating. The tagger can pretend to be a housecat, wind-turbine, pollution, a bird of prey, or anything else you can think of that might harm a migrating bird! Everyone else playing is a “bird” or players trying to avoid being tagged!
3. The tagger will stand in the middle of an open field or room and the other players line up on one side of the field/room.
4. Once the tagger says “GO” all other players must get to the opposite side without getting tagged.
5. Once tagged, a bird can either become a tagger or be “out” for the remainder of the game, it's up to the players!
